

DAILY POST

JOURNALISM OF HOPE

www.dailypostindia.com

on sunday

SOULMATTERS

Learn From Mistakes

PROF M M GOEL

To err is human. One needs to mend one's ways or else stands perished again and again. One should never ignore the smallest mistake by the self. One can commit mistake and can rectify it as soon as possible for the better performance. One is unique even if weak but different from crowd. One should not stop after committing a mistake in 2017, but should not repeat the same mistake again and again in 2018. One should treat mistake as an experience for progressing ahead in dynamism. One should keep on doing something new and unique so that one cannot get bored. One should be congratulated for committing a mistake, of course, should make honest efforts to make things right. One should not hide a mistake which gives birth to false evidences appearing real. One should tell the mistakes done by one to others which can be an interesting experience which provides courage.

To improve self-confidence, one needs to share the mistakes with people around. To improve patience, openness, fearlessness, confidence and courage one should learn to express the mistakes publicly. To be self-motivated towards learning one need to share the experiences good or bad. Avoid people with negative mentality that is creating problems not only for the self but for others around. The work is certainly going to improve by experience and will give an opportunity for learning in the course of time which is the need of the day. I will learn what is good. I will learn which is bad. Even after mistake, I will go ahead and will not stop. There are both possibilities of good or bad, right or wrong. To get success one should be ambitious to learn even from the mistakes. Self-control is the basis of strength which needed for undertaking any work big or small without mistakes.

We should prepare youth including adolescent for the spirit of corporation and support in the present times of competition which is inevitable and leads towards mistakes after mistakes. We need to create faith among children and youth about the existence of soul which is immortal. Spiritual awakening is necessary to keep adolescent youth away from the violence of all kinds including towards self as suicide after committing some mistake. Bhagvad Gita needs to be incorporated in the manual of life skills for children, adolescent and youth. Let us learn from shopkeepers who operate on fixed rates and are most successful business person with and without mistakes. We need to learn compromise for prosperity. To learn initiative, creativity and ability, we should read and reread the epics including Gita and Anu-Gita. We need to change our thinking towards mistakes in 2018. If our mistakes are new, it means we are progressing towards experience. The new techniques for learning encourage us to learn in all circumstances.