Preface and Acknowledgements

In the wake of globalization, every nation and society compete to be ahead in technology and trade. It needs a robust business structure and a dedicated workforce. In India, youth in the age group of 25-35 years constitute about 65%, training young minds to be creative and self-reliant is the need of the hour. The youth should be made aware of the situations, provide platforms to enhance and motivate their capabilities. These youths can immensely contribute towards its economic progress and development. But, the generators of this progress and development have often times been hampered by ignorance of laws or rules. Many still lack knowledge about Intellectual Property Rights nor aware of its value. Hence, it is essential to sensitize on protection and awareness to ensure intellectual, cultural and economic growth. Therefore, this workshop was organized keeping in mind the youths in building a strong foundational awareness regarding IPR.

The two-days workshop on “Intellectual Property Rights (IPR)” was successfully conducted, with participation preferring to attend similar program in future. The organizing Committee would like to share their deep gratitude and appreciation to the sponsoring agency Rajiv Gandhi National Institute of Youth Development (RGNIYD), Sriperumbudur, Tamil Nadu, Patent Information Centre (PIC), Nagaland State Science & Technology Council, Department of Science & Technology, Government of Nagaland for the collaborative efforts and interest in conducting the workshop. Gratitude also goes to the Principal for her enthusiasm and interest, all the resource persons who had all willing accepted the invitation and took sincere time to prepare their presentation, all the chairpersons and rapporteurs of different sessions, and all the participants for their support in executing a successful workshop.

Background of the program

In India, particularly, the North -Eastern region, awareness of the IPR is limited. The youth being an important component in creating, nurturing, building and strengthening creativity and innovation to be educated on this. Therefore, conducting seminar/workshop can provide a platform for the students to build and sustain their creative initiatives and develop an understanding in acknowledging and respecting the creations of others.

Objectives of the program

The following are the objectives of the program:

1. Create awareness about IPR and its importance in global trade practice and livelihood.
2. Highlight the benefits i.e., recognition and financial gains from what they create or invent.
3. Foster innovation and creativity by nurturing new ideas and research, in an environment.

Target group of the program

The target groups are the graduating students, young research scholars, and youth who are involved in the field of innovative and entrepreneurial profession.

Inaugural Function of the program

Coordinator Organizing Committee welcomed all the participants both online and offline to the two days workshop on “Intellectual Property Rights”. The Principal, Ms Helen Jamir, in her inaugural speech welcome the special guest Prof. Vasanthi Rajendran, resource persons and all the participants. She stressed that not many are not aware of IPR and thank the Director of RGNIYD, Prof. Dr. Sibnath Deb for sponsoring the workshop.

In her inaugural address, Prof. Vasanthi Rajendran, Centre for Training, Orientation and Capacity Building, RGNIYD, emphasized on the commendable progress made by the state despite being one of the smallest states in India. She also highlighted on the activities carried out by RGNIYD and the special focus to the development of the youths in the North east.

Topics covered by the Resource Persons

During the workshop the Resource persons spoke on various topics covering the theme on “Intellectual Property Rights”. The program started with a special session on youth awareness. Dr. Phyobenthung, Co-Coordinator of the Organising Committee presented a paper on the “India’s National Youth Policy & sustainable Development Goal”.

After the first special session on Youth Awareness, the technical sessions kicked-started and the following topics were covered by the Two days Workshop:

- IPR and its component: Overview of IPR
- Geographical Indications- opportunities & challenges.
- Patent laws & copyright & its drafting.
- Patent & its importance.
- How to write an Indian Patent.

Feedback from the Participants

- Background of the Participants

The workshop was attended by 133 participants, with 80 females and 53 males, representing 122- ST, 2 -SC and 9- others.

- Internet connection problems faced by the participants

Initially there was some connectivity issue; however as the session progresses the internet connection problem got resolved and maximum number of participant attended the sessions without any difficulties.

- Effectiveness of the online program

Many registered participants were able to attend the workshop till the end and there were lively interactions with the resource persons. Observing the participants feedback, the organisers understood that many participants were benefited and enlightened by the program.

- Clarification of queries by the participants during the program

With active interaction, the participants could clear up their doubts from the resource persons.

- Perception about the Resource person

The resource persons were all proficient in their subject area, resourceful. Presentations were precise with clarity in explaining the concepts.

- Views about the online mode of the Program

With the online mode – more participants can be accommodated, less stressful, flexibility or freedom to delegate time towards different projects.

- Views about the duration of the program

One and half hour per session was excellent. The participants and resource persons were not so much stressed out. Therefore the duration of program was appropriate. It can also be mentioned that a Workshop such as this needs atleast two days to cover the various areas under the given theme. Therefore the Two days workshop was ideal duration.

- Views about attending similar program in future

The successful conduct of the workshop and positive responds indicates that participants will be looking forward for such program in future.

- Views about sharing of information about the program with others

The benefits of information learnt from attending such program, it will have a ripple effect of sharing with others.

Conclusion and Recommendation

The workshop successfully addressed, the need for better awareness about IPR and helping equip young students to face a world which is increasingly focussed on innovations, research and creations.

Today, with the rising percentage of unemployment, it is crucial to train young population which constitute around 65% to make them innovative and self- reliant. Therefore, funding agency can provide funds to organised workshops/seminars on employability skill.
